Striking Miners And Police Clash

NEW WAR CLOUD IN NEAR EAST

Demonstration Held by 30,000 Miners And When Police Intervene Firing by Both Sides Takes Place.

(By The Associated Press)
DUSSELDORF, May 23.—Rioting is in progress today in the Dortmund district. Several miners have been killed and others wounded in a conflict with the police. According to reports received at French headquarters here 30,000 striking miners held a demonstration in the square at Dortmund. The Dortmund police in trying to disperse the gathering fired into the crowd killing several persons and wounding others. The angry crowd attacked the police and similar demonstrations took place at the Schacht mine, nearby, where several workmen were killed and others wounded by the police. The miners' strike was caused by Communist agitators in demand for higher wages and they are reported to be trying to bring about a general strike in the Dortmund area affecting 200,000 workers.

HEAVY BUYING OF FUTURES CAUSES HIGHER COTTON PRICES

(By The Associated Press)
NEW ORLEANS, May 22.—Heavy buying of July cotton futures by leading New Orleans spot cotton firms, who, it was reported, would demand actual cotton on their contracts, and receipt of dispatches telling of heavy rains in western Texas and northern Oklahoma caused a big advance in the local cotton market today, in which July was the leading month traded in.

The buying movement carried prices for that position upward 33 to 51 points in the first hour of the session and continued throughout the day, the market closing 95 to 136 points, or $4.80 to $7.50 a bale over yesterday's final price. The extreme advance was represented in July, which closed at 26.92. Other positions also surged upward.

Platt Walker Will Be Buried In Wilmington

(By The Associated Press)
RALEIGH, N. C., May 23.—Following funeral services at the residence at noon the body of Associate Justice Platt Walker of the North Carolina Supreme Court, who died early yesterday after a week's illness, was placed on a train this afternoon to be taken to Wilmington where the funeral will be held tomorrow. In addition to members of the late justice's family the body was accompanied by the members of the Supreme Court, several State officials and a delegation from the Raleigh bar.

Appointment Of Baldwin Popular Wish Of Britain

Lord Curzon Will Continue to Be in Cabinet of New Premier—Will First Deal With Russia's Second Reply.

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, May 23.—Lord Curzon will continue to act as secretary for foreign affairs in the cabinet of Premier Baldwin, according to unofficial predictions in government circles today. One of Premier Baldwin's first acts in his new ministry will be to deal with Russia's second reply to the British ultimatum which is expected to come today or tomorrow. No incoming prime minister could wish for a better reception from the press than that accorded Sir Stanley Baldwin. The morning papers say the appointment is in accordance with popular wishes and is the best solution under the circumstances. Reports from Conservative quarters confirm this opinion. Some of the opposition critics regard the appointment as a triumph for the "die-hard" section of the Conservative party. The Chronicle, a supporter of Lloyd George, says it testifies to an orientation of the Conservative party which is full of menace for the nation's future. Lord Curzon, the newspaper continues, was passed because the die-hards have declared a vendetta against him. The Chronicle sneers at Mr. Baldwin's budget and his part in the debt negotiations. It says, "It is possible that no negotiator could have got better terms but it is certain that none would have got worse."

The Earl of Derby announced at a luncheon today that he had received an offer from Prime Minister Baldwin to continue to serve as secretary of war and that he had agreed to do so. Much interest has been aroused among the public from the fact that Lord Robert Cecil had a long interview with the premier today. What the purpose of the conference was could not be learned.

FRANCE GLAD STANLEY BALDWIN WAS NAMED
(Copyright 1923, Chicago Tribune.)
Paris, May 23.—The appointment of Stanley Baldwin as prime minister of England brings a keen feeling of relief to French official circles.

Quai d'Orsay consistently has maintained discretion while the choice was hanging in the balance, although the hanging of Lord Curzon was made apparent. This afternoon the announcement of Mr. Baldwin's acceptance of the prime ministership causes optimism that the entente may be renewed.

While, according to informed sources, the French government has no illusions on the policy of the British government for the next few months, still Mr. Baldwin is considered to have demonstrated a friendly attitude toward France than Lord Curzon.

The impression of the new prime minister here is that he is a business man, who will perhaps cross France on reparations, but who nevertheless will not sacrifice the entente to demands of impractical intrigue as a more reactionary politician might.

Turks Protest Against Greek Fleet In Straits

Call Attention Of England to Cruising of Vessels in the Dardanelles—Is Causing Uneasiness.

(By The Associated Press)
CONSTANTINOPLE, May 23.—A Greek fleet is cruising about the entrance to the Dardanelles, and the Turkish government has called the attention of the British to the incident, lodging a protest against the presence of the Greek vessels. Rumors of various activities on the part of the Greeks are causing uneasiness in Constantinople.

There is no waning in interest in the Greek fleet, regarded by many as Danville's next suburban resort. David Jones who recently built an attractive bungalow not far from where Dr. T. W. Edmunds is building a handsome white stone home, has sold a lot adjoining his property to Mrs. L. W. Guter of this city who proposes building a home there some time this summer.

Car Thief Trail Growing Warmer; Further Arrests Are Impending

That further sensational disclosures are expected to be made before the end of the week in connection with the car stealing ring, was learned early this afternoon from a reliable source of information. It was intimated that state authorities have been engaged in an intensive effort to follow up the confession of Dennis Jennings which involves two or three Danville men and one or more persons in Baltimore. It was further said that a statement attributed to Sned that the "bitcher" and among the car thieves had not been caught, had proved the incentive to the work which is now being undertaken.

While no definite information was afforded at this stage, the impression left was that the trail of the car thieves has by no means been abandoned and that further surprising revelations will be made.

The trial of W. M. Morris in the police court today did not eventuate in State License Inspector Coleman arriving in town early this morning declaring that proceedings have been instituted in the United States Court at Greenville, S. C., and that Morris would be taken there to face a federal charge.

It also developed that Paul Maddox, the man to whom Morris sold a Dodge car, alleged to have been stolen from Martinsville, where it was held for forfeiture proceedings, is in jail at Greenville charged with guilty knowledge of the theft of the car. The license inspector has a number of affidavits made by various persons in North and South Carolina which have a distinct bearing on the Morris case.

Some doubt has arisen over the jurisdiction of the local court in dealing with Morris since it is claimed Morris took possession of the machine in Greenville, N. C., where it is said to have been stored after being stolen. So far as the local records show this machine was never brought into Virginia but was taken down to Georgia where it is said to have been sold. Should the case be

Town Topics

An interesting real estate transaction in the city and one which reflects the sharp increase in the value of Main street property, was recorded yesterday when Henry D. Day purchased from E. A. Rippe, the building at 114 Main street, which includes the locale occupied by the Waddill Printing Company also that occupied by the U. S. Woolen Mills. The purchase price was $53,000. Rippe bought the property less than three years ago from the American National Bank for $50,000 and the American National Bank bought it in 1915 from M. A. Jensen for $35,000.

The Danville Rotarians are preparing to entertain the two "baby clubs" of this section at the 29th Rotary club of Leesville-Spray and on that night the recently founded Reidsville, N. C., will be guests of the Danville Club. These inter city club meetings are proving more popular and are doing much to cement ties of friendship between nearby communities.

Park Keeper E. G. McCain is preparing for the spring clip of the hospital dock of chest at Ballou Park. He expects that about one hundred pounds of wool will be yielded this year. Last year the city made a clear profit of $170 through the sale of wool about twenty lambs, the sale of sin of profit being over and above the cost to maintain the sheep. Fourteen lambs put in their appearance this year. Mr. McCain complains of damage done by stray dogs which run the sheep, this year resulting in one being killed. The park keeper now has some beagle dogs which make short work of the marauding canines. He shot two stray dogs worrying the sheep a few days ago.

The former home on West Main street of E. T. Lewis, former Danville merchant, was sold at public auction under a deed of trust yesterday. A number of people interested in real estate were present and participated in the bidding which was lively. J. R. Stevens, auctioneer, knocked the two-story frame dwelling out to B. D. Owen for $2,500 and which was bought by a realtor generally as a good price for the property.

Several Danville people have motored to Reidsville, N. C., during the past few days to attend the revival which is being conducted there by Evangelist John Brown. At the three services held Sunday, it is estimated that 10,000 persons heard Mr. Brown.

The Corporation court has adjourned for the term and the records have been signed up by the judge. The next term will open, June 4th, when the civil docket will be called.

Fire Escapes Are Being Examined

Fire Chief Lewis Mitchell and Chief of Police James R. Bell are completing their spring inspection of fire escapes. The chief names mentioned in various buildings in the city. Nearly all of these emergency exits have been found to be in good condition though several property owners have been advised as to the necessity of treating the escapes with paint.

Fire Chief Mitchell said today that this is a highly important obligation and he stressed the necessity of the fire escapes being kept in proper condition especially those which have ladders on pulleys to be let down to the sidewalk and which may be called into use in any sudden emergency. The importance of seeing that these iron ladders are not rusting away and becoming weakened is of vital importance since, if left to the ravages of time without attention, they might become weakened as to fall with frightful possibilities to pedestrians. The two officials have been careful to examine the supports of these fire escapes with a view to protecting the public as far as possible.

The spring disaster fire at Camden, S. C., has impressed on both city officials the necessity of a careful survey of the city schools and it is their intention of going over every school building in the city during the next few days. Not all of the city schools have outside fire escapes. Chief Mitchell said however that nearly all of the schools have two stairways at either end of the building and that the law did not require the iron emergency ladders on the outside of the walls of such institutions. The police and fire chiefs will make their findings known to the school board after having made a careful survey of existing school buildings and of the fire risks, if any, that they present.

Crossed Ocean and Back With 40 Cents as Capital

NEW YORK, May 22.—Within five weeks George Morris, owner of the staff of the Later Age, has crossed and returned without paying his fare. He returned on the Baltimore and Annapolis line and 40 cents in his pocket. Wandering down to the White Star pier April 14, he boarded the Adriatic as a volunteer, being the first-class passenger he escaped detection for three days. Not having a recommendation in the travel agent's office he was turned away from the ship. He was handed over to the immigration authorities at Liverpool, but escaped and made his way to London. Finding he could not get to Paris, George applied to the American consulate in London and was given passage.

The contract was awarded yesterday to C. D. Noblett for the building of a dam at the Community Camp on the Hinton farm near Pelham, N. C., which, when completed will afford an ideal bathing spot. The work on the dam is to start today and it will be completed by July 1st or in time for a gala event by the community on July 4th. The dam will cost in the neighborhood of $1,000. The dam will provide a bathing pool, 88 feet across and two hundred feet long, with a maximum depth at the dam of eight feet and tapering off to shallow water.

Allied Warships Hasten to Dardanelles—Greeks Incensed Over Turkish Coup at Maritza River.

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, May 23.—There is of fresh trouble in the Near East are attracting attention here. Referring to the wrecking of the bridge across the Maritza River connecting Adrianople and Karasatch, the Daily Telegraph's diplomatic correspondent says that although the railway bridge bridge has not yet been damaged it is in danger and recalls that the Turks are known to have mined it. The Maritza explosion, the writer says, is merely an incident. It is suggested that the reported movement of Allied ships of war towards the Dardanelles in connection with the Eulali landing but there is no official confirmation of this.

LIQUOR CASES TRIED YESTER CHATHAM, VA.

The grand jury of the circuit court at Chatham yesterday returned a number of indictments, most of them in liquor cases. Many of the men charged with violating the laws act yesterday submitted their cases and received fines and jail sentences of varying amounts and duration. Judge Clement announced yesterday that he thought that the criminal docket would be finished by tomorrow night.

In the case of Walter Dryman, charged with transporting liquor, the jury brought in a verdict of guilty and he was fined $50 and given a sentence of three months. Harold Petty submitted to three charges and was fined $150 and given six months on the road.

Next week the civil docket will be taken up.

Called Meeting Of City Council Held Last Night

The city council at a called meeting last night disposed of a number of odds and ends. The councilmen were called primarily to make provision so that the city's street improvement program can be undertaken without loss of time. As the anticipated expenditures for streets exceeded the budget provision it was necessary to tap the contingent fund to the extent of $15,000 and this was authorized last night. In addition to Westmoreland court, Astor street and Marshall Terrace, three other streets were to have been improved—Spring street, Bellevue and Henry streets. Last night it was decided to eliminate Spring street from the list.

The first movement towards the repeal of the recently adopted ordinance requiring motor owners either to have insurance against accident or to put up bond was made at the meeting. Councilman Geoghegan brought up the subject at the close of the session, saying that he had recently encountered a great deal of criticism of the council. He felt that the council had made a mistake and that in order to allow time to think the matter over suggested that his formal motion providing for repeal be referred to the finance committee. Some of Mr. Geoghegan's objections are that the ordinance does not fulfill what it set out to do. There is no protection for city car owners against those who live at Schoolfield, he said, and in the country and there are certain flaws in the text of the ordinance which Mr. Geoghegan believes would result in many people invalidating their insurance. The resolution was referred to the finance committee.

Mr. Geoghegan, but the reflex from the move on the floor rather indicated that the council as a whole is satisfied with its work. Colonel Carrington, for instance, said that it was "absolutely the best law the council has passed." Colonel Carrington cited a recent incident in which he said A. D. Keen sustained a $370 loss when a car parked above his ran wild and crashed into his parked machine. Mr. Keen, Colonel Carrington said, had no recourse against the owner of the runaway car who was buying it on the installment plan. It was such instances as these that the ordinance was meant for, Colonel Carrington maintained.

L. B. Conway favored the ordinance as it stands, while Councilman Gardner voiced the belief that the ordinance should be repealed.

The council passed the death sentence on any effort to open Worsham street bridge for motor traffic. The Public Works committee recommended that the bridge be not opened until the danger involved. The recommendation was unanimously adopted.

No more sidewalk gasoline pumps are to be allowed. A petition by Bauman-Murray to erect a new pump at the corner of Loyal and Bridge streets was referred. Messrs. Townes and Gardner expressed the view that gas stations are beginning to be a nuisance and that people ought not to be allowed to do business on the street.

The Public Works committee in a report asked for authorization to make presentable the vacant lot in front of the city light plant, at a slight cost and the petition was granted. Mr. Conway suggested that this space be converted into a free parking zone, but Mr. Townes urged that no step in this direction be taken until the superintendent of utilities returns from his trip.

A petition was presented for concurrence, this being addressed to the Pittsburgh supervisors, asking them to bear their proportionate share in the repairing or rebuilding of Fall Creek bridge which is considered unsafe.

HARDING WILL ACT ON TARIFF

WASHINGTON, May 22.—In line with his policy of assuming personal responsibility for the activities of the tariff commission, President Harding will be called upon to act upon a number of important recommendations before leaving on his Alaskan trip.

The cases to be submitted to the president by the commission are grouped in two classes. One group consists of a number of proposals for investigations upon the initiative of the commission into the desirability of increases or decreases in duties of various commodities under section 313, the flexible provision of the tariff law. The other group includes cases of discrimination by foreign countries against American products which may be met by retaliatory measures under section 37 of the tariff law.

Preparation of preliminary surveys relating to the situation respecting commodities which may be the subject of investigations on the initiative of the commission, has been commenced by members of its staff with a view to presentation to the president. It is understood that the commission has acted tentatively on four or five of these cases. There has been a difference of opinion among members of the commission as to the need of formal investigations with a view to changes in duties on particular commodities.

WHO PICKS YOUR POCKET? FISHER BLAMES INFLATION

DOES IT PAY YOU TO SAVE YOUR MONEY?

Do you know how much your money is worth?

Every dollar you have in your pocket is worth less than it was last January.

Professor Irving Fisher, noted political economist of Yale University, says your pocket is being picked because the dollar is changing. Money inflation is making a mockery of thrift, he says.

How the inflation now in progress affects the average family is told in terms that are simple and understandable in this story, written for The Bee, at the request of NEA Service.

BY IRVING FISHER

Professor of Political Economy at Yale University; Author of "Elementary Principles of Economics," "Stabilizing the Dollar," "League of Nations War, Etc."

(Special to The Bee)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 22.—

Many stories are told about inflation in Europe. Here is a new one.

Three years ago a Polish clothier, wishing to retire from business, sold out his stock of 100 suits of clothes at 100 Polish marks each, and put the 10,000 marks into a savings bank. Recently he withdrew it with interest, making 180,000 marks in all, and found that this would buy only 100 suits of clothes!

Whether or not he ever realized that the mark had fallen is a question. Probably not, if we may judge by what I observed when in Europe two years ago.

He probably was deceived by the money illusion and believed that his principal was unimpaired and that he had really received it back with interest. To him the trouble did not seem to be with the mark but with the wicked "profiteers" who had raised the price of clothes. He would like to put them in jail but he would never think of stopping inflation.

We can see what the matter is because we are outside of Poland and think of the mark in terms of dollars. But, while we marvel at his stupidity, we are making the same blunder of assuming that our own money is stable.

Lets see how we stand.

According to my weekly index number of the wholesale prices of 200 commodities, prices averaged at the beginning of this year 55 per cent. above pre-war prices, or the dollar was worth 64 pre-war cents.

If some American clothier (taking clothes as representing the average commodity) had sold his 100 suits in 1918 at $20 per suit and put the $2,000 into the saving bank, how would he have come out last New Year's?

Counting ten years' interest he would have about $3,000. But clothes cost 55 per cent. more, or $31.20 a suit. So with his entire $3,000 he could not get back his original 100 suits, but only 96 suits.

Yet it never occurs to him that the dollar has changed! Its change has really robbed him of all his "interest" and four per cent. of his principal besides, for he now has 96 suits instead of 100.

We need not go back of this year. When the year began the index number stood, as just noted, at 156. Now it stands at 184. Stated another way, last January the dollar was worth, 64 pre-war cents, while today it is worth 61 pre-war cents. One thousand dollars put in the saving bank last January was worth 640 pre-war dollars. Now it is worth only 610 pre-war dollars. Even adding four months' interest, say 1-1/2 per cent. of $1000 or $15 (worth 15x61 or about 9 pre-war dollars), the total is only 619 pre-war dollars. He has lost the equivalent of 640 minus 619, or 21 pre-war dollars in spite of his interest.

He does not know that his pocket has been picked. What he has lost somebody else has gained. Yet the lucky person is not the pickpocket. The pickpocket is the dollar.

This is the story of inflation. It is the same story in America as in Poland. It makes a mockery of thrift. Frederick Goodenough, chairman of Barclay's Bank, London, like Reginald McKenna, another great English banker and formerly chancellor of the exchequer, recognizes that money is no stable thing. "I think therefore," said Mr. Goodenough, addressing the Bond Club in New York on May 4, "that the whole saving community must be affected by fundamental changes in price levels, and that which they most want is stabilization."

ROCKY MOUNT NEWS

ROCKY MOUNT, Va., May 22.—

The Rev. Arthur Wake, pastor of the local Christian Church, preached the baccalaureate sermon to the high school at the Auditorium church, Sunday morning. Eleven school graduates were present for the sermon as a part of the congregation that filled the auditorium.

The subject of the sermon was, "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches." Prov. 22-1. The speaker closely defined the definition of reputation and character, and laid stress on the difference of definition, and urged recognition of the great responsibility that rests upon the shoulders of the education man and woman.

The final exercises of the school will conclude Thursday evening, May 24. The graduating class is as follows: Elizabeth Miles, Page Price, Alice Greer, Sallie Hardie, Yassie Greer, Elstar Crook, Ethel Dudley, and Arthur Angle, John Day Peak, Hubert Powell, and Paul Johnson.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Guardians of the Spawthorne Chautauque which will be in Rocky Mount beginning the 16th, of June and continuing through the week, was held at the Methodist church on Friday evening. The meeting was presided over by the chairman, Mrs. W. C. Menefee, who had previously divided the town into districts, with efficient captains. The captains are as follows: Mrs. H. N. Dillard, Mrs. C. Crubbs, Mrs. R. L. McNeil, Mrs. Frank Morris, Mrs. N. B. Hutcherson, Mrs. J. C. Shearer, Miss Lena Coleman, Mrs. C. A. Johnson, Mrs. A. M. Angle, Mrs. J. C. Philpott, Mrs. T. G. Perdue, Mrs. Randolph Perdue, Mrs. Henry Barbour, Miss Mattie Laprade. All of these captains have a congenial and capable group of women to assist them. The plan is to have the program on May 21 to engage tickets to be delivered later. The women are anxious to sell all of the tickets in order to make all settlements by June 2.

Miss Page Price was hostess Thursday evening at enjoyable dance, in her home on Fifth avenue. In the program to the graduating class, of which she is a member, and in compliment to a few of her friends. Delicious ginger ale punch was served to the guests upon their arrival by Mrs. R. P. Dickinson. Pink and green was the color scheme which was carried out in the decorations and refreshments. Refreshments consisted of fresh strawberry ice-cream and cake. Mrs. Price was assisted by her mother, Mrs. O. H. Price in entertaining.

On Thursday evening, Mrs. Buster Willie entertained a number of his friends at an enjoyable informal dance of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Willis, on South Main street. A delicious ice course was served.

Mrs. Utter of the Spawthorne Chautauque will be in Rocky Mount, Wednesday, and will address the citizens of Rocky Mount, and especially the Guardians.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Willis Woody, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dallas Woody of Santa Fe, who were married in Roanoke, Saturday, passed through Rocky Mount, Saturday evening en route to their home at Santa Fe.

Andrew Davis of Washington, D. C. and Russell Davis, a student at Roanoke College, were the week-end guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Davis. Russell Davis was accompanied by his friend, Nick Underwood.

Mrs. E. M. Adkins of Glade Spring, will arrive in Rocky Mount, this week, to spend several days, and will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Zadok Bernard.

Mrs. Bernard is in Spencer, the guest of her father, and mother, the Rev. and Mrs. J. Lee Taylor.

Miss Lucy Coker of Smithfield, has arrived, and is the house guest of Miss Ann Joplin, at the "farm."

DANVILLE WOMAN TO WELCOME NEW CLUBS AT MEET

The sixteenth annual convention of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs is now in session at Charlottesville. Through the courtesy of Dr. Maphis and the convention sessions will be there. On yesterday morning, May 21st, the council of the Federation met and the afternoon session given over to an open forum, this is not a legislative body, merely a consulting body, but very valuable as a sort of clearing house.

On Tuesday night the convention was formally opened by the state president, Mrs. Henry Lockwood, the addresses of welcome were made by Dr. Maphis and the repose on behalf of the Federation by Mrs. John Richardson, of Clarke County. "The welcome to the new clubs was given by Mrs. W. T. Paxton, of Danville, at the response by Miss Julia Sully, of Richmond.

The committee on program arranged with the Department of Justice that Wm. J. Burns, formerly head of a famous detective agency, now at the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice, will speak before the convention. He has addressed packed halls at Harvard and the other great colleges, and the students thronged to hear him before colonial games and a number of prominent organizations, he has carried his message to both men and women across the continent and is always greeted with enthusiastic approval, through Henry Bordeaux, novelist, one of the prison jury, that M. Robischon gave the money for the prize.

LITERARY STUNT GREAT SCANDAL

BY HENRY WALES

PARIS, May 22.—It is the "greatest literary scandal in years" or the "cleverest advertising stunt of the 20th century" according to point of view.

The Flaubert prize of 45,000 francs (about $3,000) to be divided among three persons, which just has been instituted by an "unknown benefactor to literature" was awarded three days ago to Francois Robischon do la Queriniere for his novel, "The Spanish Grande" which was very badly written and which was published three years ago and had been forgotten by everybody.

Saturday every paper in Paris after a research revealed that M. Robischon was a rich manufacturer who took up literature in his old age for lack of other diversion. It was likewise disclosed, through Henry Bordeaux, novelist, one of the prison jury, that M. Robischon gave the money for the prize.

Curzon Said To Have Refused To Become Premier

Baldwin's Appointment Is Considered as Surrender by "Die Hard" Group

BY JOHN STEELE (Copyright 1933, Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, May 23.—Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer in the Bonar Law government, the man who carried out successfully the funding of the British war debt to the United States and the new prime minister of England, won a hard fight with Lord Curzon for the post and his victory marked a partial surrender at least by the die hard section of the Conservative party.

The end was apparent when the Morning Post, the chief die hard organ, this morning declared for Baldwin on the ground that while it maintained the right of a peer to be a prime minister if he chose in ordinary times the extraordinary times the prime minister must be to the fore in the battle in the House of Commons.

Events moved quickly today. King George who has been inspecting the troops at Aldershot motored into town shortly after ten. Mr. Baldwin, who had been at the Chequers, the official country home of the prime minister, came to town and Lord Curzon hurried up from his country seat in Somerset accompanied by his American wife. Mr. Baldwin went to his official residence at 11 Downing street and Lord Curzon to his home in Carlton House Terrace where a few minutes afterward he was visited by Lord Stamfordham that he would not be able to accept the prime ministership in the present conditions.

From Carlton House Terrace, Lord Stamfordham went to Downing street to see Mr. Baldwin and at a few minutes after three, Mr. Baldwin, accompanied by his wife, left Downing street in a very dilapidated taxi and drove to Buckingham Palace. He remained with the King for more than an hour and when he returned to Downing street he admitted with a gratified smile that he had been offered and had accepted the post of prime minister.

All day long a small crowd stood around Downing street and Mr. Baldwin was heartily cheered on his return. The selection of Mr. Baldwin will undoubtedly be popular in England. While it is hardly correct to say that he is a self made man, for he is a member of the great engineering firm of Baldwin's Limited, and is a man of wealth, he is a plain man of the people and he has won his political advancement in almost record time.

Mr. Baldwin entered parliament in 1908 and for four years was a modest member of the back bench. He became financial secretary to the treasury in 1917 and in 1921 became president of the Board of Trade. When Mr. Lloyd George resigned he succeeded Sir Robert Horne as chancellor of the exchequer.

Born in 1867 he is one of the youngest of the British politicians and he is in perfect health. He is personally popular in the House of Commons and under his leadership there is every reason to expect that the government will outlive its normal life of about four years more.

The action of the Morning Post ensures that he will receive the united action of the Conservative party for it was feared before that the opposition of the die hards would make his prime ministership impossible. It is likely, too, that he may bring back to the fold at least some of the Conservatives who went out with Mr. Lloyd George.

There is a rumor that he intends to offer the post of chancellor of the exchequer to Sir Robert Horne, while it is certain that an effort will be made to secure the cooperation of Austen Chamberlain. Mr. Chamberlain might be offered the home secretariat if Mr. Bridgman, who has made a mess of the Irish deportations, resigns. Both these men could bring much needed debating strength to the government front bench in the House of Commons.

It is assumed that Lord Curzon will continue as foreign secretary and leader of the party in the House of Lords and that the rest of the government will remain much as it is with perhaps a few minor shifts.

The doctor's bulletin today says that Mr. Bonar Law had a good night and that otherwise his condition is much the same. In letters to his constituents in Glasgow, Mr. Bonar Law says that he does not intend to resign, unless they desire, from his seat in the House of Commons but he does not expect to be able to attend this session.

No meeting of the Conservative party to elect a new leader has been called as yet, and it is not expected that one will be held before the assembling of parliament on Monday next at which time Mr. Baldwin will be elected without opposition.

Three Strange Cases Appear On The Pacific Coast

LOS ANGELES, May 23.—Does a strain of the Dr. Jekyll-Mr. Hyde complex course through all of us? Are the majority held to the straight and narrow path merely through fear, resignation to convention, or some other intangible balancing power? Three unusual life-stories have come to light recently on the Pacific Coast. In each, the man involved followed a respected profession or business during the day. But when twilight came and lights were out, and good people went to bed, these three would creep out and rob.

And the next morning would find them smug in their roles of a Dr. Jekyll, respected—even honest! In San Francisco, one "Kid" Wilson, was recently caught, police say, in the act of burglarizing a home at the jail the astonishing discovery was made that "Kid" Wilson and Earl D. Wilson, efficient and trusted money teller of the Bank of Sausalito were one and the same.

"It was not a desire for loot that made me turn burglar," he is said to have said to police. "Adventure and excitement—those I craved after a day of dry figures and drier bookkeeping records."

Girls too flocked in this man's strange career. They were respectable girls, always daughters of prominent citizens. They did not dream he was a burglar. They thought of him only as a trusted bank teller.

And when someone suggested looking over his accounts at the bank, he drew back with horror.

"No! No! Embarrassment. Burglary, yes, but I never even thought of robbing my employers. No one can find a penny out in my banking record," he said the banker-burglar, pastor.

Mrs. Ruth Whittle To Be Buried At Martinsville Today
The funeral of Mrs. Ruth S. Whittle, wife of Judge Stafford G. Whittle, formerly president of the Virginia Court of Appeals who died suddenly at Martinsville yesterday will be conducted at four o'clock this afternoon from the Episcopal church, of which she was for many years a devoted member and tireless worker, by Rev. W. E. Roach. Interment will be made in the Martinsville cemetery.

Mrs. Whittle who about a year ago was stricken with paralysis was seized with another stroke yesterday afternoon at half past two o'clock death ensuing at about a quarter to five o'clock. Mrs. Whittle was a daughter of the late Dr. H. F. Drewry of near Richmond and Mrs. Flora Redd Drewry of Henry county, and was 62 years of age at the time of death. Her father, mother and her came after the Civil War and in that community she lived all of her life.

While Mrs. Whittle's state of health had been precarious for the past year she suddenly succumbed yesterday to a quite unlooked for end. Her death was a great shock to the people of Martinsville and the surrounding section where she was widely known.

Mrs. Whittle is survived by her husband and the following children, Miss Flora Whittle, Martinsville; Mr. James D. Johnson, of Roanoke; Stafford G. Whittle, Jr., Henry D. Whittle, Kennon C. Whittle, Randolph Whittle, and W. M. Whittle, all of Martinsville, with the exception of Randolph, who is a student of Washington and Lee and who reached Martinsville this morning.

TRIED MANY FOUND THE BEST
Black-Draught Gives Satisfaction, Says an Indiana Man Who Has Used It In His Family For a Good Many Years.

Harding Grove, Ind.—"I can recommend Black-Draught very highly for the benefit it has been to my own family," said Mr. Joe Craft, of this town. "In all my years of married life, trying many and liver medicine, I have never found one that gave the satisfaction that Black-Draught has."

"I use it for indigestion and when I have colds. My wife had severe headaches from Torpid liver, or indigestion, so we use it for that. It cleanses the liver and is fine to carry off cold. I use a pinch after meals except when I have a heavy cold or bitter taste in the mouth and a drowsy, tired feeling, then I take a good heavy dose and soon feel all right."

"I have used Black-Draught for a good many years and I am satisfied enough to keep it up. I have recommended it to others and have had them tell me that it was very good and they would keep it as a family medicine."

In first-aid home treatment of common colds, Black-Draught's Black-Draught has been found very helpful, when taken as an adjunct medicine to regulate the bowels and help stimulate the liver to drive poisons out of the system.

Black-Draught is a purely vegetable herb remedy. It contains no calomel or other mineral drugs. It acts on the liver, stomach and bowels, in a simple, natural way and without bad after-effects.

momentary ace if western desperadoes, in the eyes of police. He has been convicted of killing a crook pal, has been indicted for huge mail thefts, and has already made a sensational break and been recaptured. His recent story of the Wall Street bombing attracted nationwide attention.

Wilson employs, with singular adaptiveness, the same gifts which made him once the respected leader of fashionable flocks. But the time, some routine of the pulp didn't satisfy the craving for adventure in his blood.

He had been ordained to the ministry in Ontario, Can. And he held pastorates at Brownsville, Ore., and at San Diego, Cal. He was a good man, his parishioners say, and his wife still stands loyally with him in his trouble.

"The things of the spirit, of the mind, are stronger than those of the material world," he said with unctuous information after his recapture.

Words, graciousness, kindness, sympathy, flattery, and—these are master keys that unlock cell doors and shatter chains when adroitly used.

But through each of these three life-stories runs the same theme: Stevenson's "Adventure! Adventure! Adventure!"

These apparently are the extraordinary gifts of man, say crime experts after studying the strange coast cases.

Most of us, they add, curb our craving. But some can't. And then

STOCK MARKET
(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, May 23.—The rally which set in during the latter part of yesterday's stock market was continued at the opening today, initial prices ranging from 10 to 15 points. Steels, which had been hammered badly during the recent reaction, made a good come back. Republic and Crucible opening a point higher and United States Steel common rising three eights. Good buying also was noted in the equipment group, American and Baldwin Locomotive, each opening 3-4 of a point higher.

LABOR SHORTAGE.
CLEVELAND, May 22.—Industrial and building activity in this section would be increased if more workers were available. According to the state-city free employment bureau, there are jobs for 2,500 workers which the bureau has been unable to fill. More than 50,000 men employed in the building trades are working out time here according to the bureau. The Building Trades Council said today there was a shortage of 500 bricklayers, 200 lathers, 100 plasterers and many sheet metal and cement workers.

ILLICIT BOOZE STANDS TODAY AS GREATEST BUSINESS IN AMERICA
(Special To The Bee)
CHICAGO, May 23.—Some statisticians assert that the steel industry of the automobile industry are the largest enterprises in the United States, but when they figures say the greatest single business in this country today, legitimate and otherwise, is booze. In the number of men engaged and the dollar amount of turnover in each, it stands at the top of all American "industries."

Smugglers in the shadows at Ecorse, Mich., one of the worst distributing points on the Canadian border, estimate that they and their associates bring into the United States an average of 100,000 gallons a day—and they admit it is awful stuff.

Investigation shows that more than 25,000 persons are actively engaged in booze-smuggling along the border, and at various points in the United States. There are quick fortunes in the game. One smuggler who before prohibition days was glad to earn $30 a week, admits he has made a fortune in three years and is quitting the game.

Prevalence of the prohibition law in the United States found a highly organized gang of smugglers, located all along the Canadian border, ready to get into the new game. Up to that time they had been engaged in smuggling Chinese across the border at from $300 to $1,000 each. They also engaged in various smuggling endeavors—handing jewels, cloth and other articles that were slipped in without paying duty. But when prohibition came in, they dropped everything else and concentrated upon this immensely profitable business.

Smugglers now in Ecorse, where the overland run runners of seven States get their cargoes of booze, about ten miles from the heart of Detroit. The investigators found the business running wide open with no effort at concealment and total disregard for the law. He helped a Chicago bootlegger lead four one cases of booze on a truck, in broad daylight, and this stuff was converted 325 miles to Chicago over highways of Michigan, Indiana and Illinois without any interference whatever.

One never sees a federal state or local officer raise a finger in Detroit to stop this traffic. The smugglers are provided with enormous quantities of labels and counterfeit revenue stamps and are ready to supply any brand the run runner calls for. Much of the stuff comes from the great run from various parts of the world. Wildcat distillers in the United States and Canada supply enormous quantities. Ecorse is but one spot on a long stretch of Canadian border. Yet in four miles of shores, dozens of men are smuggling booze on the American side and about the same number across the border.

The smugglers freely admit the stuff is counterfeited and the men who drink it do so at their own risk.

Many Negro Workers Leave N. C. For North

(By The Associated Press)

RALEIGH, N. C., May 23.—Reports made to M. L. Shipman, Commissioner of Labor and Printing, by agents of the Federal Employment Service in various cities in the state, indicate that large numbers of negro laborers are leaving North Carolina for Northern and Eastern states. It was announced today.

W. T. Carter, in charge of the Winston-Salem bureau, stated Mr. Shipman that approximately 1500 to 2000 negroes have left that vicinity during the past few months. The negroes are being promised higher wages in the Northern states, Mr. Carter stated.

Mr. Carter said the impression in Winston-Salem is "that a few labor agents have been about the city, working under cover, and paying the transportation of the negroes to northern centers." He said there is a surplus of clerical and professional applicants at Winston-Salem, but common labor is short.

Approximately 1,000 negroes have left Charlotte and vicinity within the last sixty days, W. H. Cause, of the Charlotte bureau, reported. The negroes are being promised higher wages, shorter working hours and better living conditions by labor solicitors from the South, according to Mr. Cause. He said he had taken the matter up with the city authorities, who had instructed officers to arrest all agents they find soliciting labor outside the state.

Asheville appears to be the only place where the labor situation has not been affected by the migration of the negroes. Superintendent John D. Cole at Asheville, writes Mr. Shipman that has been no noticeable decrease in workers around Asheville.

Reports were made to Mr. Shipman last week by Employment Service agents at Wilmington, New Bern and Greensboro. Between four and five hundred negro laborers have left the Wilmington section during the past month or so, it was stated while 20 men were reported to have left Greensboro last week to accept places with a coal company in Pennsylvania. One of a few negroes have left the New Bern section, it was reported, but large numbers are said to have left Kingston and Goldsboro.

Saved and Killed By Same Motorist
ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 22.—Saved from drowning in a creek by a passing motorist, and half an hour later struck and severely injured by the same motorist on Lake road, South of Clarkson Corners, Frank Akcy, 65, of Brockport, died today of wounds received here.

Responding to calls for help, Herbert Chapman, fruit grower, of Clarkson, stopped his car at a creek near Brockport and found Akcy struggling in the water. Chapman succeeded in pulling the man ashore.

Chapman went into Brockport with his wife to pay a call. On the way back he took the same highway, the Lake road. About three-quarters of a mile beyond the scene of his rescue Chapman says Akcy suddenly staggered from the side of the road in front of the car. He was knocked down and received a fractured skull.

AMERICAN LEGION RAISING FUND FOR OVER-SEA DEAD
The Danville post of the American Legion has joined with the national organization in raising a permanent fund for the decoration and care of the graves of the three thousand American soldiers that are buried over sea. William H. Carter at the American National bank will receive donations from Danville. He urges that the people of this city liberally give to this worthy cause.

TO ARREST LABOR AGENTS.
COLUMBIA, S. C., May 22.—Gov. McLeod of this state has issued a proclamation to all peace officers to arrest all agents soliciting labor from outside the state or collect from them the State and county license tax of $2.50 each. This step is taken in an effort to check migration of negro workers to the north and west.

ROTES DINE AT AVERETT WITH COLLEGE PRES.

Last night was Averett College night for the Danville Rotarians, the clubmen having accepted President (and Rotarian) J. P. Craft's invitation to have a dinner at the school, in lieu of the usual weekly luncheon. Mr. Craft himself was the chief speaker and his efficient assistants in the musical, expression and domestic science faculty ably assisted him in this responsibilities as host and entertainer. They have a delightfully varied program as well as an excellent dinner menu well served. All the bachelorettes were out in their best bib and tucker and with their appetites working full time.

After the dinner itself, which was spiced with Rotarian songs and feminine smiles, Dr. Craft addressed the club on "The Juniors and What They Are Doing." The speaker made a comprehensive review of the present status of the school, its ambitions and aims and imparted much information to his hearers, particularly in summarizing the college's claims to consideration and particularly to local appreciation. He was given an attentive and appreciative hearing.

Then by way of showing what the college has in the line of high-class teaching and entertaining talent, the college faculty took the entertainment program out of the hands of the mercenary and contributed a musical entertainment of high standard. This included a classic selection by a trio of vocalists, Misses Almy, Adams and Cannon, with "My Curly-headed Baby" as an encore. This was followed by an enjoyable musical monologue, "The Land of Nod," by Miss Adams, a versatile and unusually clever entertainer. Miss Almy, a brilliant contralto, sang "Duna" and as an encore number, she rendered a lighter selection, "I Doubt It" and received an ovation.

Another musical monologue by Miss Adams, "Wined Grandma Was a Girl," was followed by "Old Mr. Moon" by the same young lady and both were unusually well received. The dinner was prepared by the domestic science department of the school and was the subject of general commendation. After the entertainment program the Rotarians were shown the gymnasium and the swimming pool and enjoyed a social hour.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES TO BE HELD AT OAK LEVEL SCHOOL

Commencement exercises of the Oak Level High school will begin Sunday when the Rev. T. O. Langford delivers the baccalaureate sermon at the Mt. Vernon church.

An all day program will be held on the campus Monday, which will include a historical pageant in the morning, and a baseball game in the afternoon.

Graduation exercises will take place on Tuesday evening. At this time diplomas and prizes will be awarded. The Rev. J. T. Truitt of Princeton Seminary will deliver the commencement address.

MILLIONAIRE PHILANTHROPIST CREATES HIS OWN RELIGION

McKINNEY, Tex., May 23.—Gus Wilson, an 80-year-old bachelor who lives near here, has a peculiar theory of life. (Call it religion or creed if you will.)

He could give the world the impression he is an unbeliever; that he is uncharitable. But all the while his deeds speak the contrary.

He'd deny heatedly that he gives most generously. But the fact is that in money and property he has given outright one million dollars! He would slam the door in your face one minute and the next hand you a check for $15,000—if you really needed it.

The secrecy which A. M. Wilson—those are his initials, but everyone calls him Gus—throws about his gifts makes it difficult to obtain a complete list. These, however, are known: Twelve big houses, 20 autos, one bungalow, many canceled promissory notes, two school houses, many acres to land, and thousands of dollars in cash.

Once a thousand acres of rich land adjoined the crude little log cabin in which he lives. He has given all away except 150 acres, which he keeps for a tenant family living in the hut with him. Gus has always lived here; his father did before him.

He seldom gives when asked for aid. He loves to surprise and play Santa when least expected.

Not long ago, on his way to McKinney, he passed a farm house. The entire family—father, mother and children—was working in the field. The day was sultry. Labor must have been a hardship. Wilson held a mortgage on that farm.

He saw all at a glance. Instead of proceeding to town, Wilson impulsively turned his car and hurried back to his little cabin. There he seized the mortgage, marked it "paid" and drove back to the farm.

Not willing to make a show of his generosity, he edged his way into the farmhouse unnoticed, and placed the canceled document under a dinner plate.

On another occasion he noticed a crippled farmer in the field. Apparently he hadn't given the unfortunate a second glance. But when he got to town he bought an auto and sent it out to the cripple with a chauffeur. An index to his strange character was gleaned when he donated a chandelier to a church. It was one of the few times he gave directly to a house of God.

Wilson spent considerable money on the chandelier, and had it installed. Then, some time later, he dropped into the church building. There he found his gift had been unused and was covered with dirt and cobwebs. He promptly tore it down and took it home.

Despite his appearance, Wilson is rich. He has loaned much money at interest. But his policy regarding these obligations is quaint. If a man is able to pay, Wilson takes the money. But if he isn't he will cancel the note or mortgage.

Some call this loose business methods. But all his life he has worked hard and saved and his gifts go only to those unable to make both ends meet. Has this unusual man ever had a romance? One of his oldest friends say in Wilson's youth there was a girl. This maiden married another, and thereafter Gus dropped all matrimonial intentions. He still has his old wedding suit.

Sent autos to his friends

"If I had my way," Wilson is quoted as saying, "all women would be sent to Africa, and all men somewhere else. When they come together there's trouble."

HIGH SCHOOL PLAYERS ARE HARD AT WORK

The cast of the "The Rivals" to be presented Wednesday night, May 30, at the Majestic theatre by the senior class of the Danville High school has been hard at work during the past week rehearsing the play, smoothing the rough edges and finishing the play so that it will be the best effort along histrionic lines ever turned out by the High school.

Prominent Men and Women Will Attend Meeting

The Rural Life Conference to be held at Whitwell High School May 25-27, is arousing a great deal of interest not only in Pittsylvania county but in all sections of the state. The attendance from this county will be large and numerous visitors from the state at large will be in attendance.

Among the prominent Virginians who will be at the conference are Governor Trinkle, Senator Glass, Supt. Harris Hart, Dr. J. P. McConnell, president of Radford Normal at Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, president of William and Mary College, Mrs. Beverly B. Mumford, Prof. John R. Hutchison, of V. P. I. Congressman J. Murray Hooker, Supt. F. B. Watson, Supervisor Henry Ellis. Other visitors include Dr. A. E. Winship, editor of New England Journal of Education, Dr. E. C. Lindeman, executive secretary of American Country Life Association; J. Y. Joyner, for many years superintendent of Public Education in North Carolina.

A moving picture of the various events on the program will be shown during the three days of the conference.

The following account of the conference is reprinted from the Whitwell School Citizen, the school publication:

Discussing the interdependence of city and country and the hearty support Danville and Schoolfield have always given the case of rural education, an appeal was made to Danville Chamber of Commerce, Danville Fair Association and Schoolfield Cotton Mills that they finance a "Country Life Conference" to be held at Whitwell Farm Life School May 25-27. They readily agreed and now plans are well under way for a great gathering of rural and city forces to discuss the betterment of life for the 73 per cent. of Virginia now living on the soil.

Invitations will be extended to every organization in the county to attend the conference and take part in its deliberations. Speakers of national reputation will be present, as well as Virginia's leaders in state and nation. The program will include all the interests of all the people. Children are especially invited to attend each day.

"May 25th will be 'School Day' when the people of Pittsylvania will have an opportunity to welcome Gov. Trinkle to the open country. It is hoped the children of the county will avail themselves of this great opportunity of hearing the chief executive of their state and his address will fire them to follow in the steps of a great leader.

Trinkle's interest in rural education as demonstrated by his willingness to leave affairs at the capital city to consider face to face with the people, the biggest job of a democracy, namely, the education of its children.

"Hon. J. Murray Hooker will also speak in the morning.

"There will be an interesting demonstration in physical education. Preceding the speaking will be a parade showing community organization as a result of consolidation. Dinner will be served each day in picnic fashion, on the school grounds. Home economics classes will serve supper in school dining room to speakers. Country people are asked to bring their baskets laden with good things.

"In the afternoon the program, for adults will be based on Virginius's Program for Rural Betterment. The children will hear with much interest Dr. A. E. Winship, of Boston. The commencement exercises of the school will be made a part of the conference. Class of '23 will plant their trees on Friday afternoon, which will be shrubs from Shakespeare's home and Evangelist's land, an acquaintance made possible by the correspondence of the children. In the evening there will be a popular address.

"Saturday will be of especial interest to farmers and their wives. Senator Glass will be the speaker, as well as Mrs. Mumford in the forenoon. In the afternoon there will be sectioned meetings for men, women and children.

"The club women of Danville and Chatham are cordially invited to meet with the rural women on Saturday afternoon. Many women of prominence are on the program. The men have a very strong program with Mr. J. Y. Joyner, Prof. John R. Hutchison, and others as speakers. The children will be entertained by Dr. E. C. Lindeman.

"Dr. Watts, of Richmond, has consented to take charge of the model Sunday School at 9:30 A. M. Sunday School within reach are invited to Whitwell on that day. There will be a sermon at eleven o'clock. The climax of the conference will be reached on Sunday afternoon with Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, president of William and Mary College, as speaker, and the last address will be by Dr. E. C. Lindeman on "Next Step in Development of Whitwell Community."

CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL ON NEXT TUESDAY

Next Tuesday, May 29th, will be Memorial Day in Danville.

The day's program will open with a dinner to the Confederate veterans of this city and those from the county who can be there. This will be served at the Loeland cafeteria at 1 p. m.

The memorial program will be given at the Confederate Memorial building, with an interesting program of war-time music, appropriate recitations and the address of the occasion by Rev. Thomas A. Smoot, D. D., of the Methodist church.

Following the rendition of the memorial program, a procession will be formed and the further commemoration of the decoration of the mound and the graves of individual Confederate soldiers buried in that cemetery.

The Memorial association requests all in this city or in the surrounding country who have flowers to spare to send them to Confederate Memorial building as early Tuesday morning as practicable in order that they may be assembled and prepared for the decoration of the graves.

The occasion promises to be one of more than usual interest.

CAR CATCHES FIRE

A blaze which started in gasoline beneath the steam automobile of W. D. Tudor, was responsible for the alarm turned in early last night from Paxton street. It was extinguished before the fire department arrived. Little damage was done.

Expert Accounts For Money Given To Groton Works

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 22.—Through Norman C. Finninger, an expert accountant who has been the employer of the shipping board for five years, government counsel sought to prove today at the Morse trial that the Groton Iron Works had spent for private work more than $300,000 from the first payment of $300,000 made to it by the Emergency Fleet Corporation under the contract entered into in June 1917, for wooden hulls to be built at the Groton company's Naugatuck, Conn., plant.

Finninger, who is one of the government's chief witnesses, testified that with the assistance of 25 other persons, he had made an analysis of the books and other records at both the Naugatuck and Groton plants, beginning in 1922. His analysis with respect to the disbursement of the $300,000 government payment was admitted as evidence over repeated objections of defense counsel. They contended that the contract for the hulls was on a lump sum basis and that what the contractor did with the money was no concern of the government provided the contract was executed.

Finninger, as presented by Finninger, showed that $121,288 was spent to pay obligations of the Groton company contracted before the wooden hull contract was awarded; that $83,189 was used in construction of the Groton plant, which subsequently obtained contracts for steel ship hulls; and that only $11,043 actually went into construction of the wooden hulls.

On cross-examination, Finninger, who gave his age as 26, said he had examined the Groton books and records at the direction of Fletcher Dobyns, formerly an assistant attorney general in charge of the Morse case, and District Attorney Gordon.

WOMAN'S APPAREL FOUND ON CANAL

RICHMOND, Va., May 22.—Police of the city are mystified at the discovery today on the banks of the canal of two suits of dress and a woman's wearing apparel, together with several fine dresses. All of today they have been working to set a line on the affair and to discover whether some woman has ended her life by diving into the water. In addition to the clothing in the suitcases there was a blue serge dress, stockings and much other clothing on top of the cases, indicating that the intention was to leave the public believe that the owner had ended her life. The canal is being dredged. There was no mark or trace of any sort to show the name or home of the owner.

KLAN PETITION TRIED.

(By The Associated Press)
MACON, Ga., May 22.—City council tonight tabled a petition from the Ku Klux Klan to parade in full regalia here on June 18.

"This council has always been more than accommodating, when everything is above board," said Mayor Luther Williams, in drawing the aldermen. "I do not consider this wise or advisable."

CERTAIN RELIEF FOR INDIGESTION

New Cordial Called "Anti-Ferment." Originated by a Druggist and Recommended by Physicians, Neutralizes Acid Condition of Stomach, Prevents Fermentation and Brings Instant Relief.

MONEY BACK IF YOU ARE NOT PROMPTLY RELIEVED

Indigestion and its attendant ills such as dyspepsia, heart-burn, stomachic griping, nausea, dizziness, diarrhoea, colic, cholera morbus, chronic constipation, gas, etc., and even sick, nervous headaches are now directly traceable to disorders in the digestive organs.

The food sours before it is fully digested, thus putting into solution toxic poisons that are absorbed into the system, irritating the intestines and setting up inflammation. To avoid this, you simply have to prevent fermentation by using Anti-Ferment.

Anti-Ferment neutralizes the acid condition of the stomach, cleanses and soothes the bowels, soothes and heals the inflamed intestines and increases the flow of gastric juices, giving quick and certain relief. Get a bottle of Anti-Ferment from your druggist, which a guarantee of satisfaction. Results in money returned. CANDHI REVERED BY INDIA JAIL CHECK HIS ACTIVITY

BY MILTON BRONNER

(Special to The Bee.)
LONDON, May 22.—Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi, the greatest man on earth, is 53, with graying hair, unflinchingly truthful eyes and slim figure.

It is in these words that a little green pamphlet, printed at Karachi, India, starts the story of the man whose name is still on millions of Indian lips.

There also lies before me a Hindu paper—printed in English in London—which says things that the strict laws of India would not allow this same editor to say if he were issuing his newspaper in his native land. On his first page he prints a picture of Gandhi with this inscription: "Gandhi of Yavada Jail, sentenced to six years by a government representing Satan, for the crime of preaching what Jesus of Nazareth preached—non-violent, non-co-operation with evil."

India Reveres Gandhi.

These two typical examples will illustrate the love and the reverence this little gentle-spoken, western-educated lawyer has inspired in tens of millions of his fellow countrymen, and their leader, their martyr, and their saint. But so dependent are they upon personal leadership that the British government performed a master stroke when it imprisoned him.

Gandhi is a Hindu, though not of the highest caste. His father was a minor official and the son was given all the educational advantages India could offer.

Gandhi then came to London, completed his studies and was admitted to the bar.

It was mere chance that threw him against British rule. Called by legal business to South Africa, he saw how his fellow countrymen were treated there and entered the fight to grant them citizenship in the British empire.

He suspended his agitation when the Boer war broke out, doing all he could to aid the British, thinking a grateful government would reward his countrymen. But it didn't—and Gandhi returned to South Africa to renew the fight.

Gandhi led strikes and he agitated, landing in jail. When the great war broke out, he once more helped Britain by securing recruits for the big Indian army.

Once more he was disappointed when the government failed to do more for the Indian people.

But the climax came when the government passed the Rowland act. These continued in peace time repressive measures designed for wartime defense of the realm.

During his studious years, Gandhi had been much influenced by the Sermon on the Mount and by the teachings of Tolstoy. Therefore, though opposed to government measures, he preached the doctrine of non-violence. The masses were passively to resist the laws and the rules.

Through him certain words became battle cries for all India: Swaraj—home rule for India. Satyagraha—passive resistance to oppressive laws, while carefully refraining from violence to life or property.

Swadeshi—native boycott of foreign and particularly British goods. Hartal—demonstrative closing of shops and suspension of all business. Unfortunately the ignorant masses of Hindus were not inspired by the same Christian sentiments. Also Gandhi achieved the seemingly impossible. He had bridged the gulf between Hindu and Moslem.

The All brothers, leaders of the Moslem or Khat-lafat movement, joined with him. For a short period hostilities between Hindus and Moslems were suspended in the common contest against the British. But instead of peaceful demonstrations, in many places there were riots, attacks upon property, loss of life, insults to the Prince of Wales during his visit.

Arrests Come. The All brothers were arrested, convicted and sentenced to imprisonment with hard labor. At last on March 10, 1922, Gandhi was arrested on a sedition charge. In his final trial he frankly told the court that to preach disaffection to the present government had become a passion with him. He said a short period hostilities between Hindus and Moslems were suspended in the common contest against the British. But instead of peaceful demonstrations, in many places there were riots, attacks upon property, loss of life, insults to the Prince of Wales during his visit.

He was given six years' simple imprisonment, the English judge saying he did not overlook the fact that in the eyes of millions of his countrymen Gandhi was a great patriot and a great leader. Although the non-co-operative movement is said to be waning, Gandhi himself is far from forgotten. On the anniversary of his imprisonment, the entrance to the jail was smothered with flowers brought by deputations from all over India.

STREET PAVING BIDS FOR STUART WERE REJECTED

(By The Associated Press)
RICHMOND, Va., May 22.—Award of the contract for the erection of a bridge across Pamunkey river to the Major Construction Company of Front Royal, was announced today in a telegram from Henry G. Shirley, chairman of the Highway Commission, to C. S. Muller, acting state highway commissioner. The contract was awarded late Monday by the commission, sitting at Charlottesville.

The bid of the Front Royal concern was $29,952.15. All bids for the construction of 5.9 miles of road between Falls church and Fairfax, in Fairfax county, and for the paving of the streets of Stuart, in Patrick county, were rejected by the commission. The lowest bid submitted for the project was $22,542.72. This estimate was made by J. E. Lane and company, of Scottsville, and was rejected on the ground that a member of the firm, D. H. Pitts, of Albemarle county, is a member of the House of Delegates. The next lowest bid on the project was $23,336.45, which the commission considered too high.

PAID FANCY PRICES

"I paid an international authority on diseases of the stomach, $1,500 and he didn't do me five cents' worth of good," I have been told by a man in Europe, as well as this country, and have spent fully $20,000 fruitlessly in search of a cure for my stomach trouble. Naturally I lost faith in any remedy for my condition. My wife's brother had taken Bayer's Wonderful Remedy and praised it so highly that I tried it and am now entirely rid of that trouble. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. THE BEAUTY OF HEALTH.

Newspapers and magazines are devoted columns to "magnificence" or "overnight beauties." There is a beauty in health that is far more attractive to men than mere regularity of features or a made-up complexion. Health should be the first essential of women who want to win and hold admiration, respect and love. At the first indication of ill health as indicated by dark circles under the eyes, a sallow complexion, headaches, pain in the side, nervousness, irritability and melancholia, women should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the standard remedy for woman's ills, which has been proven to help 98 out of every 100 women who try it.—adv.

Mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents, shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin softener and complexion beautifier. Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon cream into the face, neck, arms and hands, then shortly note the youthful beauty, softness and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this harmless lemon cream to bring that velvety, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.—adv.

What's Going on in the World

WEEK'S CHIEF EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

(Special to The Bee.)

PRESIDENT HARDING says, in his opinion, if New York as a state cannot enforce prohibition law, the result will be "more or less conflict between state and federal authorities."

After prohibition became national, New York, like many but not all states, passed a state law in general conformity with the federal regulation, the idea being that there are not enough federal officials to make prohibition very effective—that the states must help.

The New York Legislature recently passed a bill repealing the state dry law, but Governor Smith has not signed the bill yet.

Smith is an avowed wet. Nevertheless many people believe he does not enjoy being forced to put himself on record in this particular way. He is much spoken of as the next Democratic presidential candidate. If he should get the nomination, every body will know he regards prohibition unfavorably, yet presumably he will not want to run purely and simply as a wet, which is the way many people are apt to look at it if that issue is over-emphasized.

Leaving politics out, it isn't quite clear why the lack of a New York dry law forebodes "conflict."

There are other states without dry laws. In these states there may have been lax prohibition enforcement, but not "conflict." State officials recognize the federal authorities right to enforce prohibition if they can.

Federal officials fight the smuggling of merchandise into the country, without state aid. The same is true of counterfeiting and enforcement of postal laws and most other federal regulations.

If New York never had had a state dry law, probably it wouldn't have attracted as much attention as it is now. The repeal is an unmistakable "gesture," as it has been called, disapproving prohibition.

Still Held Captive.

The foreigners, including Americans, who were kidnapped when Chinese bandits held up the Shanghai-Peking express, are still prisoners in the Shantung wilds.

What's more, the outlaws are threatening to kill them if the government doesn't give the guarantees they demand. They actually have killed a number of Chinese prisoners to show they mean business.

To be sure, the government has promised the brigands all they want, but the bandits are afraid the government will break its word.

United States Minister Schurman at Peking has threatened "drastic action" if the prisoners aren't freed. The trouble is, while they United States can make things very unpleasant for the government, it won't help the prisoners. In fact, trouble for the government is just what the outlaws enjoy most.

England and Italy.
King George of England has paid a visit to Rome. French newspapers speak of it as roiling the visit his father, the late King Edward, often paid to Paris when he was framing the "entente" between England and France.

Only this time it's Italy that's visited.

A view of increasing friction between the English and French governments, some of the Paris papers wonder if King George isn't trying to arrange an Anglo-Italian "entente." Perhaps not, but at least quite distinct from the understanding which links France and Belgium together, especially in relation to their Ruhr policy.

Another German Offer.

Another thing worries the Paris press.

Dispatches from Berlin say Chancellor Cuno of Germany is preparing a fresh reparations offer.

The Paris papers say they're afraid this proposition may take such a form as to satisfy England and Italy without satisfying France and Belgium.

Down in Mexico.
An attempt has been made to blow

N. Y. Prohibition

Chinese Bandits

Entente-Ruhr

up the United States consulate in Mexico City with a bomb.

Nobody was hurt, but a lot of damage was done.

It leaks out also that a similar attempt was made recently against the United States embassy.

It seems certain the perpetrators were trying to prevent American recognition of President Obregon's government.

Some people think they were "reds" who don't like any government at all. Others believe they were reactionaries who want to go back to the old regime, such as prevailed under President Diaz, when great numbers of Mexicans virtually were slaves.

Andrew Bonar Law has resigned as premier of England.

His retirement had nothing to do with politics, but was forced by ill health. Consequently his successor will be, like himself, of the Conservative party.

Some accounts say the premiership already has been offered to Lord Curzon. Others that it is about to be offered.

This is a surprise, as it was thought Stanley Baldwin would be chosen.

Turzon unquestionably is an absolutely honest, high-minded man but one of the most ultra-conservative statesmen in the world today. His premiership, if it follows, is sure to consolidate advanced English elements against the Conservatives.

Desperado Forces All To Tote Guns

Frightened by the Slayer's

Police, North Bay Arms—
Some Think He Is Dead.

NORTH BAY, Ont., May 22.—Leo Rogers, the bad man of North Bay, is still at large and the North Bay country is panicky. Rogers killed Constable Fred Lefebvre after he had made his sensational escape from the North Bay court—using a cardboard revolver.

He has sworn to "get" Police Chief Morley and Magistrate North Bay. The desperado may suddenly dash into town, carry out his vow and get away again.

The community is plain scared and every man on the street has a holster dangling from his belt, and the holster isn't empty.

It is a Western movie thriller, but it is painfully real for North Bay.

Negro Is Arrested Here For Theft Of New Machine In Salisbury, N. C.

Fred Smith, colored, and his wife, Lavinda Smith, automobile thieves, were arrested here early this morning by Sergeant J. H. Martin, Patrolman O. W. Bates and Sergeant Baker of Schoolfield. Smith is alleged to have stolen a machine in Salisbury last night.

He was arrested and placed in the local jail even before the theft of the car had been discovered. The negro was arrested about 3:30 o'clock.

Smith was not cleared up until the local jail even before the theft of the car had been discovered. The negro was arrested about 3:30 o'clock.

Smith was first detained by Sergeant Baker at Schoolfield early this morning. The fact that he was driving a new car with a North Carolina license, with a trunk in the rear, looked suspicious to him. Sergeant Baker called Sergeant Martin on the telephone and told the Danville officer that he had a suspicious looking negro with a car. He stated that he believed that the man had told a straight tale but at the same time he requested the Danville officer to come up and take over the case.

Sergeant Martin and Officer Bates hurried to Schoolfield. Martin talked with the negro and finally brought him to the courthouse, together with his wife.

When questioned about the car, Smith said that he got it from a man in Columbia, S. C., whose name he gave as Alvin Lynch. He said that he was working for Lynch and that he had asked him to drive the car to Washington and that he was to meet him there. He stated that Lynch was moving to Washington and that he was being held for him. The officer told the negro that the tale would not go and demanded him to come across with the truth, whereupon Smith related a different story, which also proved to be a false one.

This time he said that a man in Salisbury, whom he had not known very long, gave him the car to take to Lynchburg for him. He said the owner was to meet him in the Hill City this morning and that if he possibly couldn't get there in time had instructed him to drive on to Washington.

Sergeant Martin still insisted that the second story could not do and told the negro to tell the right tale, but no satisfactory statement was made further than that the car belonged in Salisbury.

The officer then got in communication with the chief of police of Salisbury to whom was related the facts in the case. That official made an investigation and learned that the car was the property of G. L. Baker. It was ascertained that the new machine, just purchased by Baker, was stored in the McCanless Motor company, at which place Smith had been working.

The proprietors of the garage had not missed the machine until informed of Smith's arrest and the recovery of the car in Danville. Smith, who had worked yesterday, had stolen the machine out of the garage sometime during the night and had started north.

From his statements to Sergeant Martin, it was gleaned that the negro had been induced by a labor agent to go to a northern city to work on promise of being paid higher wages. Smith intimated that he was going to Baltimore by saying that Baltimore concerns paid such good wages and that he might possibly go there.

All developments, and Smith's statements, show conclusively that some person had induced him to go north. He had mapped out his plans, taking the machine, going through the country to his destination, secure employment and then probably selling the car. The fact that his wife was along, and that a large trunk filled with wearing apparel and household goods was in the rear of the machine, strengthened this belief.

There is no doubt that the machine was the property of Baker at Salisbury. Both Smith and his wife are being held in custody by the North Carolina authorities.

WAGE INCREASE
GIVEN SHOPMEN
OF B. AND O. RD.

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, May 22.—The wage increase of the men an hour estimated to involve an annual expenditure of approximately $1,800,000 has been granted 24,670 shop craft employees, stationary engineers and firemen and laborers by the Baltimore and Ohio Railway, the United States Railroad Labor Board was notified today. The increase, the carrier's report to the board states, became effective May 15.

The increase brought the shop crafts' hourly wage to 73 cents, 3 cents above the labor board scale. B. & O. maintenance of way employees received an increase recently. Other roads today advised the board that increased wages had been granted to certain classes of employees.

Track and common laborers in the maintenance of way department of the Seaboard Air Line were given a flat hourly rate of 35 cents, crossing watchmen, bridge-tenders and painters were increased 2 1/2 to 3 cents an hour, and fifty-six dispatchers were given a flat rate of $245 a month, effective March 1. About 2,246 men were affected.

Three hundred and twenty-three semi-skilled shop and roadhouse employees of the Fredericksburg and Northern Railway received a boost of five cents an hour April 16. Certain track and relief dispatchers were raised $3.34 a month December 1, last.

Several other Southern roads also have increased wages of various employees, the board was notified.

Good Morning Judge!

The following cases were disposed of this morning in the police court: "Walter Wallace drew" a check of twenty-five dollars and costs for obtaining $19.25 under false representations from J. M. D. Barriar, who operates a phonograph store on Union street. Wallace is alleged to have been a willing mark and making collections and failing to turn in the money.

William Ferguson was fined $2.50 and costs for operating a machine without a permit. A warrant charging Ferguson with violating the parking ordinance was dismissed. Ferguson claimed that some one released the brakes on his machine which was on Main street and allowed it to run into the safety zone so that they could have room to park the machine.

Thomas Martin fined $11.50 for not having proper lights on his machine. Ethel Belle, colored, drew a fine of $2.00 and costs for "curse" on Annie Bell Moore. Officer O. T. Cook overheard the profanity in a house on Craghead street.

W. H. Hardy fined $11 and costs for reckless driving.

The blotter shows that the following cases have also been settled: Philip Greenberg has withdrawn his appeal in a speeding charge, and has paid the fine of $21 and costs. The case in question was the one in which Greenberg alleges Officer L. O. Bolton approached him in an ungentlemanly manner in the presence of ladies in the car, and that he drew a gun on him. The police acquitted Bolton of the charges brought by Greenberg before the commission.

The case of Joe Pruitt, charged with beating his wife, Minnie Pruitt, has been dismissed. A payment of costs of the warrant, the blotter shows.

A charge against Judge Pointer for stealing a $25 dress from Minnie Conway has also been dismissed at costs.

Report On 121 Yrs.
Of Christian Work

INDIANAPOLIS, May 22.—Dr. John A. Marquis of New York, general secretary, today presented the annual report of the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions to the Presbyterian General Assembly. It covers 121 years of Christian enterprise, dating from the time the first Presbyterian Home Board's concern has been for the isolated, the poor, the alien, and all handicapped and underprivileged people. The keynote has been that there must be no one beyond the hearing of the Gospel.

The report of the board has been and is nothing short of the Christianization of America. The report declares: Its service has been to the American Indian, to the retarded mountain areas, to the men in the north woods, to the Eskimo above the Arctic Circle, to the Spanish-speaking people in the southwest and in the West Indies, to the aliens in cities and industrial centers. Home mission forces today are a factor in the maintenance of more than one-third of all the Presbyterian churches and in the support of one-fourth of all Presbyterian ministers, while in nearly every synod the home mission organization carries the main burden of every forward movement.

At the present time Presbyterian home mission work is conducted within the bounds of 45 states, two territories and two contiguous independent nations. The number of commissioned missionaries now exceeds 3,400, and the annual expenditures are in the neighborhood of $4,000,000. The Board of Home Missions and various self-supporting synods have expended in their history an amount probably in excess of $50,000,000 and have issued over 120,000 commissions to missionaries.

In conclusion the report says: "The educational work of the home board is based on these principles: America is not a place but a set of ideals about God, life, liberty, happiness; a set of ideals which the Presbyterian church did much to instill into the early life of this nation. These ideals are fighting hard to survive, and are in danger of being supplanted by lower and less Christian ideals. We must not only plant churches but make them effective spiritual leaders. Tremendous challenges are presented to the church by millions of people who have not had an equal chance. The more than 1600 Presbyterian home missionaries are engaged in the birch in the most difficult places, and are in need of the moral and financial support of the whole church."

U. D. C. DELEGATES

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, May 22.—Rube Ruth broke up a great southpaw pitching duel today between Herb Pennock and Mike Cuyugus with a home run smash over the left field wall, in the 15th inning, giving the New Yorks a 3 to 1 victory over Chicago. Dugan was on base. It was Ruth's eighth consecutive drive of the season and enabled the Yankees to close their first invasion of the west with the best record they ever made. They won 13 games and lost one.

Cuyugus and Pennock gave one of the best exhibitions of pitching seen here for a long time. Although the former was hit harder than his opponent, he pitched most remarkable ball in the pitcher's box. Pennock held the White Sox to four hits.

MEASURE WOULD ABOLISH LEASE SYSTEM IN FLA.

(By The Associated Press)
TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 22.—A conference committee today agreed upon a bill to abolish the controversial lease system in this State and will report to both houses tomorrow, following which, it is said, final legislative prohibition against the practice will be enacted. January 1, next, was the date agreed upon by the committee as the time when the law should become effective. This has been the only point in dispute. At that time it would be unlawful for any new contracts to be made and should there be any existing with further time to run they automatically would become void.

Kinks o' the Kinks

Player gets on a rather poor tee shot and feels that his ball has gone out of bounds. He elects to play another ball from the tee and accept the one stroke penalty. This being done to save delay. The second shot is much better than the first one. After making it, the caddy discovers the first ball is not out of bounds. What is the proper procedure?

If after making a second shot it is discovered the ball first driven is not out of bounds, it shall continue in play without any penalty to the player for having made the second shot.

Player on reaching his ball discovers that it is not out of bounds as he believed. However, the lie of the ball is such that in order to play it, the player must stand out of bounds. Is that permissible?

If the ball is lying within bounds, the player has a perfect right to stand out of bounds in order to be in a better position to play the ball. There is no penalty for so doing.

Danville Loses Second Game To Capitals 5 To 2

RALEIGH, May 22.—The Capitals took the second game of the series from Danville here this afternoon by the score of 5 to 2. Hard hitting by the locals and Danville's inability to hit in the pinches tells the story. In the second inning the Tobacconists filled the bases with none out and were only able to score one lone tally. Two rapid fire double plays executed by Danville and the good playing of Graves and Sessions featured.

Pitcher Gibson had one bad inning, the third, when three runs were registered by the Capitals. Outside the frame he pitched a creditable game. Danville's first run came in the second. They also made a strong effort in the ninth, but made only one run. Jesmer singled, Lowe fanned and Gibson flew out. Dorman was safe on an error and Jesmer went to third. Allison singled and Jesmer scored. Smith popped out.

It was in the third that the visitors filled the bases with none out and gave the fans a scare. With the score loaded, Jesmer was caught napping at second by Catcher Siner, who made a perfect peg. The next batsman struck out and the third flew out to rightfield, relieving a critical situation for Valentine.

Some Kicker!

Oh, girls! Bet you can't kick as high as Charlie Christner kicks. In Prof. Burt McNair's kicking contest in Pittsburgh, he kicked over all other kicking records. And she won first prize in a beauty contest, too!

Danville Here Today For Game

The Danville baseball team returned last night from a double defeat at Raleigh and will open a two-day engagement with Manager Leo's Winston-Salem team today at 4:15 at Stonewall Jackson park.

In the Raleigh game the Capitals took the first contest, a great pitching match between Leo Harris and Grier Friday, by the eye-lash margin of 1 to 0. In the second, the Dan-canties also won against Gibson's pitching by 5 to 2. In the two games, Manager Murphy's bunch, although easily leading the league in batting, scored once and had just one run per game, although they outbatted Raleigh.

It is true the Tobacconists are crippled, even more so than appears on the surface, for Catcher Land, a balance wheel and general for the team, has been out of the play; so has Eddie Regan, a fast and aggressive player, and First Baseman Allison, a more than 300 hitter, has been so incapacitated by a lame arm that this weakness has seriously affected, not to say been decisive in several games. It also appears in the light of the sequel that the local management unfortunately when he turned out to be badly needed, the pitching staff has just been assembled and completed by the arrival of Twombly and the signing of Wilson, a left-handed twirler, to be on the scene, efficient boxman. These with Harris, Gibson and Caviness provide a very good string of hurlers.

The explanation of Danville's rather disappointing record of games won is sufficiently indicated in the fact that the team ranks last of the six in fielding, having made 47 errors to 17 by High Point, 31 by Winston-Salem and 33 by Raleigh. Further, more the team has not been assembled and trained together and developed into team-play because of the experimental status of the playing personnel. Fourteen men exclusive of pitchers have been placed in the effort to select just the right men to make the strongest combination. On the other hand, the High Point team has been assembled and has played together for the season. The same is true of Greensboro. On paper and judged by the individual records of the men in batting, Danville appears to be the strongest aggregation in the league, potting an average of .275 in batting average on May 12 of .302, compared with .282 for Dorman, .279 for Winston, .264 for High Point, and .246 for Raleigh. Yet the hitless wonders from Winston-Salem, Capital City, Danville 2 hard fights and have just won two in a row. That fielding and finished team play are quite as important, if not more so than hard and consistent hitting is self-evident. The Danville players need fielding practice and to practice together in team play and inside ball. This need, with the weakness due to Allison's lack of condition and Catcher Land's absence from the game, have played an important part in Danville's poor standing. The team leads the league in base-hits, it easily leads in total bases, in runs scored in the first two games in two-base hits, in sacrifice hits and in stolen bases; and yet it is far from the top in games won. Why? Because it stands lowest in fielding!

Catcher Land is expected to be back in the play by Saturday, and Regan will probably be able to play by the last of the week. Manager Murphy is back in the game, and Jesmer has made an excellent showing as an outfielder and is said to be a fine first baseman also. With the league-leading batsman, Trexler, an left field, Smith or Jesmer at first base, and Regan or Jesmer in the center, the team appears to be in a position to make a strong showing. Overton or Heekle at second; Dorman at short and Murphy at third. Danville would have a team batting .326, exclusive of pitcher. It would have the leading batsman in the league, the leading home run hitter, the leading total base-hitter, two of the best sacrifice hitters, off of the best two-base hitters and two of the best base-runners.

It would seem that about all the team needs now is to be held together and practised and developed as a team about as above made up. It yet remains to be seen whether Overton's batting will enable him to hold the second base position satisfactorily. It is the intention of the management to play him there because of his experience and his fielding. But whatever the decision is, the important consideration is to decide and whip the personnel into a team, fighting for every game, vigilant for every opportunity to win and steady in the crisis.

Manager Murphy has signed for a try-out Pitcher Wilson, a left-handed. If he prove effective and Twombly round into his winning form of late, the pitching staff, Twombly will probably be the box choice for today's game with the Twins. Lowe will likely do the receiving. The team seems to need a bit more of the fighting spirit; more of the ability to convert hits into runs. If they are encouraged more, they are likely to develop it the more quickly and surely.

SWEDEN WOULD PRESERVE REC'D OF ITS HISTORY

STOCKHOLM, May 22.—The government committee on the study of ancient Swedish folk culture and the preservation of historic materials has submitted a report to the Department of Public Worship and Education in which it recommends government appropriations for the work, and a federation under direction of the state of all the institutions now active in this line of research.

Among the subjects now being investigated by various schools, universities, museums, and societies are local dialects, especially those which are rapidly disappearing, popular tales and superstitions, the origin and significance of Swedish place names, ancient trades and handicrafts, etc. The committee stresses the importance of coming generations of preserving accurate and vivid records, together with authentic illustrative material, of the earliest developments in Swedish civilization.

MEN MUST GROW WISER TO CHANGE GOVERNMENT
 NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 22.—"All men grow wiser and more virtuous as we go to hold to the forms of representative government adopted by our fathers," declared Dr. J. H. Kirkland, chancellor of Vanderbilt University, speaking before the annual session of the National Congress, Sons of the American Revolution, tonight. Dr. Kirkland said he doubted the wisdom of a modern tendency to make government more frankly democratic and less representative. "The quality of the United States Senate has not improved through the election of senators by popular vote."

I FIND it difficult, indeed, to write this article.
 My hands say, "Go on," but my heart doesn't seem to dictate willingly.

But I owe an explanation, probably, to the many fans who wonder at my gray hair. The gray hair is no mystery. It is not from age, of course. But it does come from a lifetime of worry and sorrow, crowded in a few short weeks.

Shortly after I won the championship in 1912, our second child, little baby Helen came. Our home had been a joyous place, indeed, before she reached its doors; it was doubly so after the great event. I simply sat and held her, and my wife—well, a woman always does take those things to heart even more than a man.

SHE BECAME ILL
 Little Helen's health was fine until she was six years old. Then she strained her little side and contracted an illness that eventually affected her heart.

When her true condition was realized, I was beside myself. We were living at our West 105th street home. I had 27 physicians—I can remember even the exact number, so indelibly is the experience written on my mind—to care for her. But none seemed to help.

Just before she became sick I had signed to fight a boxer named Brady. Naturally, I didn't take any training, as I was with our little girl except for a minute for 21 days except for a wink or two of sleep.

But I couldn't get out of the fight, and went in. I was heart-sick through it all. Knockout punches were out of the question. They just didn't exist in my system. I told folks about the little one, but because I didn't knock out Brady, but only outpointed him, they accused me of stalling!

HELEN DIES
 Two weeks later little Helen died, and then the papers apologized, and said how sorry they were for us in our loss.

What turned my hair gray—turned it gray practically overnight. To lessen the sorrow I plunged into work. I even went so far as to want to get into politics, just to be able to forget—not my departed little girl, but the sorrow of her going.

Should a fighter go out of his class? Kilbane gives his opinion in the next article.

The saddest moment of the champion's life came when his little girl, Helen, age 8, died. Johnny and Helen were great pals, as this picture will only too readily testify.

Manager Lets You In Show Free--Then Passes A Hat

By Josephine Van de Grift

NEW YORK, May 23.—How would you like to go to the theatre free?

They do it in New York. You can come, look, listen and then walk out without paying. But if you like the show real well and want to show your appreciation, you may drop something in a collection basket which a pretty girl passes around.

Butler Davenport, actor-manager, producer-playwright, started this free theatre in his Brainshall Playhouse, New York's smallest theatre. It seems it paid, for after several weeks trial he announced a "sell-out" every night. Eventually he hopes to move into a larger place which will be known as a People's Theatre. Meanwhile he is kept busy writing his plays, producing them, arranging the settings, and watching out that his audience of 208 each night is pleased.

If all theatre managers follow Davenport's plan, theatre-going will be an even greater pleasure, for then:

There won't be any wrangling with sassy box office men.

You can change your mind about going to a performance any time you want to.

Your favorite head bag won't be filling up all the time with theatre seat stubs.

No one is going to say: "My goodness, Henry, I thought you told me these were aisle seats."

And if you wander in on Hedda Gabler some time under the impression take a nasty revenge by dropping two that it's a musical comedy, you can bone buttons in the collection plate.

The diagram represents a maze of roads passing through a small park. Can you trace the shortest course from A to B?

Yesterday's answer:
If a ram weighed 16 pounds on one side of a falsely balanced scale, and 9 pounds on the other, its true weight was 12 pounds. The correct answer is obtained by multiplying 16.9 which equals 144 and extracting the square root of that number, which is 12.

NOT TO GRANT INCREASE.

CHICAGO, May 22.—Traction officials here have decided to notify the leaders of the street carmen who are asking an increase in pay of ten cents an hour beginning June 1, that their demands cannot be granted, as city and state authorities have given no encouragement to a plea by the street car lines that the fare be raised from seven to eight cents. It is said that some of the union men are strongly opposed to the strike threatened for June 1 if the wage demand is not granted. Advances in wages in 17 of the building trades are expected June 1.

Mount's Father Believed To Hold Secret Of His Son's Strange Death

(Special to The Bee.)

CHICAGO, May 20.—Investigation into the Leighton Mount mystery, which has been lagging for several days, was given fresh momentum today when J. Allen Mills wired from Akron, O., suggesting that state officials question J. L. Mount, father of the missing student. Mills says he believes Mount himself holds the secret of his son's disappearance and death.

Mills also said that Charles "Chuck" Palmer, University football and baseball star, has no connection whatever with the Mount mystery, and adds that he feels certain Roscoe Conkling Fitch and J. L. Mount, will break under pressure and clear up the mystery.

Young Fitch has been supplying most of the material upon which the investigation has been working. It is recalled that when he was first taken into custody, he admitted he knew all about the Mount disappearance, but later shut up like a clam and asserted he had been misunderstood. Mount's father never figured prominently in the case, the boys' mother being the chief member of the family to testify.

Mills was a leader of one of the factions on the night of the fatal class battle and his "tip" set the investigators at work immediately upon a new set of theories. Mills has been asked to wire further details of his theories and he may be brought back again from Akron to amplify his statements.

Chief interest today centered in the inquiry into the death of Louis Aubere, killed in an automobile crash following a hazing battle. He was buried the day the skeleton believed to be that of Mount was discovered. Numerous students were questioned by the coroner and outsiders, who witnessed the death of Young Aubere, also testified. The bulk of the witnesses upheld the official statement sent out at the time by Northwestern University heads, that Aubere was riding on the running board of a machine and was knocked off and killed when he collided with an automobile driven by a woman at a bridge approach.

British Reject Orpen War Painting Because It Lauds Common "Tommy"

LONDON, May 21.—Sir Martin Conway has continued his refusal to buy Sir William Orpen's painting, "To An Unknown Soldier in France," because "it does not show what we wished it to show—the great ones who signed the Versailles treaty."

The artist has blotted out the peace makers and substituted a number of skeletons of "Tommys" wearing helmets and shoes, guarding a plain pine coffin of their "buddy" in the Hall of Mirrors at Versailles.

Urge Elimination Of Eye Hazards

NEW YORK, May 22.—Two hundred thousand accidents to the eyes of workmen occur in industry each year, and approximately 16 per cent of the total blind population of the country, or 15,000, represent the industrial blind, these are two of the facts developed in an industrial survey which was conducted last year by the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness. The study covered every state in the union and every industrial occupation in which there is an accident hazard.

The report points out that much already has been accomplished toward alleviation of the eye accident problem in industry, but all this is merely a beginning.

"There are still countless plants whose operations present serious eye hazards, in which no goggles or other protective equipment are available. There are many plants where workmen still wear goggles in their pockets except when they are watched. There are still plants in which toothpicks, matches, handkerchiefs, pocket knives, and even the tongues of workmen are the instruments employed to remove cinders and other particles from the eyes of fellow workers."

Industrial accidents the report says, are responsible for an injury to a human eye every 2-1/2 minutes, day and night, 365 days a year.

"The solution of this problem," the report says, "depends upon three forces. Legislation, education, and actual accident prevention service to industry, and it makes the following general statements:

First—the elimination of eye hazards in industry is not only a moral obligation, but a good business proposition.

Second—goggles at best are a handicap. The first effort, therefore, should be directed toward the elimination of the hazard itself by changing the processes of manufacture, by redesigning machines and tools, or by guarding machines and tools at the source of accidents, usually the point of operation.

Third—few people have perfect vision to start with, greater attention should, therefore, be given to the examination of the eyes of employees, the correction of defective vision of industrial workers and to a consideration of the condition of the eyes of the individual worker with relation to the visual requirements of the work that he is to do.

MINN. WOMEN LIKED WORK AS LEGISLATORS

ST. PAUL, May 22.—The four women members of the Minnesota house of representatives in the session just ended took their full part in legislative activity, considered their bills, introduced new ones, and carried through "with flying colors" according to their masculine colleagues. They worked together for legislation of particular interest to women.

They are Mrs. Hannah I. Kemmerer, Mrs. M. D. B. Housh, Mrs. M. H. Housh, and Mrs. M. H. Housh. The interest they took in their work became a matter of comment. It was noted that they were the first women to be elected to the legislature, as president.

The students urged the calling of a mass meeting to name a committee which would wait on Governor J. C. Walton and protest against Wilson's appointment.

Stung by Bees

AKRON, O., May 18.—Our courts are powerful. They can prevent strikes. They can fine the Standard Oil Company $29,000,000.— But they can't keep a bee from stinging a cow, if that's the bee's idea of humor.

Such is the opinion of Common Pleas Judge W. J. Ahern here, ruling in Arthur G. Bennett's injunction petition to prevent Timothy M. Brown's bees from stinging Bennett's tenants' servants, cows, horses and hogs.
